this morning opened with a confident feel-ing and with prices generally small frac-tions better than those of last evening, but there was another batch of rumors and stories touching the condition of Richmond and West Point and the rumor that a receiver was inevitable was louder than ever. Naturally, as an accompaniment of the stories the bears attacked stocks and bonds with vigor right at the outset and common stocks fell away from 13% down to 10%, while the preferred dropped from 60 to 55. The effect on the rest of the list was not what it ought to have been considering the suddenness and force of the hammering, and while Burlington yielded 1 per cent to 95, others lost only fractional amounts.

Lower prices brought in a second new buying for the long account and coverings at bottom prices were urgent, which had the effect of rallying the list rather sharply after 11 o'clock. The close was firm at alight concessions from best figures. Rich-mond and West Point is down 1 /g after a material rally and the seconds 4 per cent from last previous sales. FOSTER'S WEATHER.

The Next Storm Wave Leaves the Pacific September 14.

NOTABLE WEATHER EVENTS.

The Newspapers Will Have Big Heads Relating to September Weather Before the Month Has Passed.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 12 - My last let

Special to the Gazette.

St. Joshan, Alo., Sept. 12—Aly has letter gave forecasts of the storm wave due to cross the continent from September 8 to 12, and the next will be due to leave the Pacific coast about the 14th, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 15th to 17th, and reach the Atlantic coast about the 17th, and reach the Atlantic coast about the 18th. It will be at its greatest force in the Eastern states about the 17th or 18th, when it will make a recerd as more than an ordinary storm. Destructive frosts will follow this storm, especially in the Western states, and will reach much further South than is usual for the time of year. This storm wave and the one following it will be what has been popularly termed equinoctial storms, as they will occur when the earth is near its equinoctials. Not the greatest storms of the year, but notable weather est storms of the year, but notable weather events were calculated for Soptember, and I will be greatly surprised not to see long accounts in the newspapers, with display heads, relating notable weather events.

special instructions. I have a good num-ber of subscribers to begin with and mem-bers can begin the studies at any time in the future.

My long range weather forecasts have stood the test for a number of years, and many persons, especially those interested in agriculture, fruit railing, coal mines, ice houses, etc., are in favor of adding this feature to the national weather burean. I would not desire to make the offices of the national weather bureau responsible for my thouses of weather charges because they theories of weather changes because they know nothing about the principles upon which my forecasts are based, and for the same reasons I would not accept any posi-tion in the weather bureau that would pre-veut me from freely presenting my views, I am not begging the people of the United states for government support, and I will enter into no log-rolling scheme for that purpose. My work is giving me a good support and I am not dissatisfied with my efforts and opportunities. But there would be some advantages to the public and toward perfecting a system of long range within forecasts in actabilishing a logical control of the public and toward perfecting a system of long range. ceather forecasts in establishing a bureau of agricultural metreorology. I estimate that such a bureau can be put into operation at an expense of $15,000 annually. One man cannot cover all the ground and give to the subject that careful study necessary to perfect the system and make it of practical utility to all interests. There are three natural divisions of labor in these long range forecasts, and each of these divisions should have a man at its head peculiarly fitted for the work. One of these depart-ments includes the periodical storm waves weather accompanying them and the cold waves, hot waves and frosts. Another department would include rainfall and droutlis and a third department would give special attention to plant life, making estimates of the effects that coming weather ill have on the growing crops of the orld. If we could know the future of the world. If we could know the future of the weather, farmers would better know what kind of crops to plant.

In order to make this bureau of agricultural meteorology accountable directly to the people, and prevent it from becoming a tool in the hands of cereal speculators. I propose that its chief be elected biennially by the lower house of congress, and that the chief appoint his cierk and two assistants. Should such a bureau be established, I would probably be a candinate for the first place, and such a bureau of established. I would probably be a candidate for the first place, and Professor Blake of Topeka, Kan., would be my choice for the department of rainfall and drouth. He is a remarkably well-informed man on these subjects, besides being a man of very considerable ability in other matters. My choice for the department of plant life would be Professor Mansill of Rock Island, Ill. He is well informed in astronomy, meteorology, geology and chemistry, and would be a valuable man in gathered by the the present weather bureau, and as it would not make daily weather predictions, there would be no conflict between it and the weather bureau officials. Let the latter pursue their work. At most there could only be a rivalry between the two systems, and the public would soon determine which can furnish the most valuable weather forecasts.

the most valuable weather forecasts.

Melbourne, the Australian weather maker, has moved his operations to the Western arid regions. I cannot intelligently discuss his efforts for want of information, which he has not yet given the public. I have not doubted that rainfall may be preduced both by explosions and by the discharge of gases into the atmosphere. but there is a serious question, because of the expense, as to either of these being practical. From the published descriptions of Melbourne's efforts, he must use some kind of a gas which either greatly expands in coming in contact with the atmosphere or that causes the atmosphere to rapidly ntract. Expansion and condensation are the means used by nature as the origin of force, and the rain-makers must necessarily adopt one of the two. I can only say that Melbourne should have every opportunity and encouragement to show his theories to the second payment on the ground that no deep water work has been done. Over $100,000 is due.

Mr. Wheeler said to day that the lithers will have to pay, that the company has graded more than one nile of road leading to the Pass, that work will be steadily pushed, and then one mile of road leading to the Pass, that work will be steadily pushed, and that if possible a deep water harbor will be made. Asked if Mr. Harrison and others would get their pay, he said he was pretty sure or it. He has been in communication with his principals, and has received orders not to push the payments. Pork Packing and Provisions. The Cincinnati Price Current says: Returns for the past week show a total of 135,000 hogs packed in the West, compared with 135,000 for the preceding week and 245,000 last year. The total from March 1 is 4,970,000 hogs, against 7,265,000 a year ago-decrease, 2,295,000. Prices have been some-what advance at Chicago and close 15/2/20 cents per 160 pounds higher than a week ago; here at Cincinnati values are a little easier, most of the other markets operating prices close about the same as a week rogs and product are a discouragement to packing operations, and some further shut-ting down has occurred this week. It seems the vitable that values of product must be advanced, or prices of hops decline. Leading articles at Chicago for October delivery are on the basis of about $4 for hops, while $4.50@5.50 is the range paid, probably averaging $5 or more. In the provision trade there has developed an enlarged demand for meats, and some increase in prices is snown. The export movement of product for the week was the largest for a considerable time, showing a gain in bacon com-pared with the liberal clearances for corresponding time last year, while lard de creased.

Among the Mills.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin says: The feature of interest in connection with the cotton industry is the proposed cut down of wages at Fall River. This course of action decided upon by the manufacturers to better a depressed market is open to se-vere criticism. The real cause of the trouble at Fall River is a supply of print cloths much in excess of the demand, and consequent low prices for goods. Now the only way to relieve such a situation is to curtail production, shut down the mills and wait till the stocks on hand are in better proportion to the demand. Such a course, if persistently followed, could but have a beneficial effect on the market, and thus accrue favorably to the mills. What is wanted is less goods, not that they should is wanted is less goods, not that they should be manufactured cheaper.

Nor would the effect of such a cut-down be felt in Fall River alone. The cotton manufacturing interests of the other manu-facturing towns in the state as well as those of Rhode Island are closely inter-twined, and what would affect Fall River would be almost sure to affect other inter-ests as well. Hence the present situation in the Border City is viewed with a good degree of interest by manufacturers and employes, both in this state and Rhode Island.

Considerable building in the cotton industry is noted this week, no less than seven new mills being reported. In Pawcatuck, Conn., as has already been announced, work has been commenced on a large thread mill, while throughout the East and South new factories are going up.

The cotton mills running on white goods continue to be well employed, and nothing of importance has occurred this week to af-feet the situation.

Not many new woolen mills are building, but a number of additions to existing plants are under way, and several factories that had been shut down were started up this week. No woolen mills were shut down this week, and although several small strikes are in progress, there is no serious labor trouble in the industry, such as is harrassing the cotton industry.

CHICAGO. ILL., Sept. 12.—Wheat was weak all day and closed 2c lower than it did on yesterday. Cables brought no encouragement to holders, and with the domestic market generally lower, receipts liberal and little in the way of a dull market, a decline was casy.

Corn—The etique was not actively trading in that article to-day, and the market, freed from its interference, was weak and considerably lower. It had a succession of slumps, although there were some reactions and declines continued to reach a lower level, and the session progressed. The close was 2c lower than yesterday's close.

Provision market was firm to strong for a time near the opening, but changed to decided weakness later in the day. Pork and ribe authered more in prices than lard. The close was at or near the lowest prices of the day.
